BY AN "OLD HAND." It you the modern game of whist would know. From this great principle its precepts flow; Treat your own hand as to your partner's joine !. And play not one alone, bu; both combined.

Your first lead makes your partner understand

The suit predemicating in your hand, And hence, there is necessity the strongest That your first lead be from your suit that's longest. In this, with see and king, lead king then ac., With king and queen, king also has first place,

With soe, queen, king, knave, lead soe and then the queer; With ace, four small ones, ace should first be seet; With queen, koave, ten, you let the queen pre-

In other cases you the lawest lead. Ere you return your friend's, your own suit play, But trumps you must return withyut delay. When you return your partner's tead take pair s To lead him back the best your hand contain; If you received not more than three at first; If you had more you may return the worst. But if you held the master eard your'd boun ! In any case to play it second round. Whene'er you want to lead, 'tis seldom wrong To lead up to the weak or to the strong, If second hand, your lowest should be played, west of these would be the proper thing. Mind well the rule for trumps, you'll often noe ! them.

Ualess you mean "trump signal" to be mid ;

Or if you've kieg and queen, or ace and king.

When you held five 'tis always right to lead, them. Or, if the lead won't come in time for you, Then signal to your partaer so to do. Watch also for your partoer's trump request,

To which with less than four, p'ay out you;

To lead through honors is indiff rent play. Unless you want the trump suit cleared away. When second hand a doubtful trick you see, Don't trump it if you hold more trumps than three; But having three or less, trump fearlessly.

When weak in trumps don's fores your friend,

But always fore: the a iverse strong trump hand.

The lowest you must play if you don't lead; When you distard, weak ends you ought to choose, For strong ones are too valuable to lose;

For sequences, stero custom has decreed l'hough nawadays some clevir people say Your strong soit is the one to throw away. ENGLISH CLAIMANTS FOR FRENCH DUKE-DOMS .- Two British dukes, the Dake of Aberearn and the Duke of Hamilton and Brandov, both members of the house of Hamilton, claust the French dukedom of Chatelherault under a grant made by Henry II of France in 1543 to James Hamilton, Earl of Arran, better known to history as "The Regent," in order to secure his consent to the marriage of his infant half sister, Queen Mary, with the Dauphia, atterwards Prancis II. The Duke of Aberesco claims this Preach ride by viring of a royal edist issued in 1711 by Louis XIV that the ducal title should descend from heir male to heir male. Tae Dake of Hamilton, though representing a female descent through Aone, Dachess of Hamilton, in the seventeenth century, claims the Breach title in virtue of a decree issued in 1864 by Napoleon III, who was a second cousia of the present Dake of Hamilton. As a matter of law all French titles were abolished in 1789, and it does not spoesr that this particular title has over been revived otherwise than by the late Emperor. But be this as it may, a suit is now pending to sooul the marriage of the Daker of Hamilton's Sister to the Dake of Valenticoisson and heir of the Prince of Mouses, and the French journals which comment upon this suit describe the fair prosecutrix as the only sister. not of the Dake of Hamilton at all, but-of "the Dake of Chatetherault." Which shows that though France is a republic old French titles still bave a profound charm for the cars of Frenchmen, and a higher value in their imaginations than the most resounding hereditary honors of foreign councries .- New York:
